Write a Week of Social Media Posts in 30 Minutes with AI

A simple, repeatable routine to plan, write, adapt and schedule seven posts that sound like you, using free AI tools.

30 min	6 prompts	1 week
weekly routine, step by step	from brand brief to schedule	worked example + checklists

START HERE

One sitting. Seven posts. A whole week sorted.

Posting consistently is one of the hardest jobs for a busy owner. This guide gives you a repeatable 30-minute routine that uses AI to plan, write, adapt and schedule a full week of social media content, while still sounding like you.

The 30-minute system at a glance

MIN 0–5 Fill in your Brand Brief once, reuse it every week ▶ MIN 5–10 Pick this week's content pillars & 7-day plan ▶ MIN 10–20 Draft all 7 posts with one master prompt ▶ MIN 20–25 Adapt for each platform + visual ideas ▶ MIN 25–30 Edit, humanise and schedule

Timings are estimates for a typical week once your Brand Brief is done. Your first session may take 45–60 minutes.

What you need

An AI chat assistant

ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini or Microsoft Copilot. Free versions work for this guide.

A scheduling tool

Meta Business Suite (free for Facebook & Instagram), or Buffer, Later, Hootsuite and similar.

Your photos

A folder of real photos of your products, team and workplace. Real beats perfect.

STEP 1 · MINUTES 0–5 (FIRST TIME: 20 MIN)

Your Brand Brief: teach the AI who you are

Generic input gives generic posts. Your Brand Brief is a short note you paste at the start of every session, so the AI writes like your business, not like everyone else's.

Brief item	Your answer
Business name & what you sell
Where you are / who you serve
Your ideal customer (age, job, worries, wishes)
What makes you different (3 points)
Your tone of voice (3 words, e.g. warm, witty, expert)
Words or topics to avoid
Your main offer this month
Where you post (platforms)

PROMPT · INTERVIEW ME FOR MY BRAND BRIEF

Help me write a Brand Brief for social media. Ask me the following questions one at a time and wait for my answer each time: what I sell, who my ideal customer is, what makes me different, my tone of voice, words to avoid, my offer this month, and which platforms I use.
When we're done, summarise everything into a Brand Brief of max 150 words that I can paste into future chats.

EXERCISE 1 · CAPTURE YOUR VOICE

Find 2–3 posts or messages you wrote yourself that you're proud of. Paste them into the chat with: "Describe my writing style in 5 bullet points so you can copy it." Add the bullets to your Brand Brief.

STEP 2 · MINUTES 5–10

Content pillars & the 7-day plan

Content pillars are 3–5 themes you rotate through. They stop you running out of ideas and keep your feed balanced between helping, showing and selling.

Teach

Tips, how-tos, mistakes to avoid. Builds trust and gets saved and shared.

Show

Behind the scenes, your team, how things are made. Builds connection.

Prove

Reviews, before/after, customer stories, results. Builds confidence.

Sell

Offers, new products, bookings, deadlines. Turns attention into sales.

A simple weekly rhythm (adjust to your business)

Day	Pillar	Post type idea
Monday	Teach	A quick tip or “3 mistakes to avoid”
Tuesday	Show	Behind-the-scenes photo or short video
Wednesday	Prove	Customer review or story (with permission)
Thursday	Teach	Myth vs fact, or a simple how-to carousel
Friday	Sell	This week’s offer or featured product
Saturday	Show	Your team, your space, or a fun moment
Sunday	Engage	A question, poll or “this or that”

PROMPT · PILLARS + 7-DAY PLAN

[PASTE BRAND BRIEF]

Using my Brand Brief, suggest 4 content pillars for my business. Then create a 7-day posting plan as a table with: day, pillar, post idea, format (photo, carousel, short video, text) and a one-line hook for each post. This week’s focus: [EVENT, SEASON OR OFFER].

STEP 3 · MINUTES 10–20

Draft the whole week in one prompt

Now the AI writes all seven posts at once, using your brief and plan. One long, clear prompt beats seven short ones: the posts stay consistent and you save time.

MASTER PROMPT · WRITE THE WEEK

[PASTE BRAND BRIEF]
[PASTE 7-DAY PLAN]
Write all 7 posts from this plan. For each post give me:
1. A scroll-stopping first line (max 10 words)
2. The caption (60–120 words, short paragraphs, easy to read on a phone)
3. One clear call to action, e.g. comment, save, book, visit, message us
4. 3–5 relevant hashtags
Rules: write in my tone of voice, use simple words, no clichés like "unlock" or "elevate", max 2 emojis per post, and don't invent facts, prices or reviews. Mark anything I need to check with [CHECK].

Hook formulas that stop the scroll

Formula	Example (for a café)
The mistake	"Stop doing this to your morning coffee."
The number	"3 things we wish customers knew about oat milk."
The secret	"Here's what happens before we open at 7am."
The question	"Sweet or savoury breakfast? Wrong answers only."
The result	"How one regular saved 20 minutes every morning."
The local	"The best quiet corner in [NEIGHBOURHOOD] for remote work."

ITERATE IN THE SAME CHAT

Don't start over if you don't love a post. Reply with: "Rewrite post 3 with a funnier hook" or "Make Friday's offer more urgent but not pushy."

STEP 4 · MINUTES 20–25

Adapt every post for each platform

Each platform has its own style. Rather than writing from scratch, ask the AI to adapt each post. Use the guide below as a starting point and follow what works for your audience.

Platform	Style that tends to work	Ask the AI for
Instagram	Visual first, short punchy captions, carousels & Reels	Caption + carousel slide text + Reel idea
Facebook	Conversational, local community, questions	Friendly longer caption + a question
LinkedIn	Professional insight, lessons, stories	Lesson-style post with a takeaway
TikTok	Fast, personal, entertaining short video	15–30 second script with on-screen text
X / Threads	Short, sharp opinions and tips	1–3 short posts or a mini thread
WhatsApp / Status	Personal, direct, offer-focused	Short broadcast-style message

PROMPT · PLATFORM VERSIONS

Adapt the 7 posts above for [PLATFORMS]. Keep the core message, but change the length, style and call to action to suit each platform. Show the results as a table: day, platform, final text. For Instagram also give 5 short lines of slide text for any carousel post.

EXERCISE 2 · PICK YOUR TWO PLATFORMS

Most small businesses do better showing up well on two platforms than badly on five. Write the two where your customers really spend time: 1. _____ 2. _____. Adapt only for these two for the next 4 weeks.

STEP 5 · VISUALS

Visuals, carousels & short videos

Posts with a good visual get noticed. Use real photos when you can, and use AI to plan shots, write slide text and create simple graphics.

PROMPT · SHOT LIST FROM REAL LIFE

For each of the 7 posts, suggest one photo I can take on my phone in under 2 minutes at my [SHOP/OFFICE/WORKSPACE]. Describe the shot, the angle and what should be in the frame.

PROMPT · CAROUSEL TEXT

Create a 6-slide carousel about [TOPIC] for [TARGET CUSTOMER].
Slide 1: bold hook. Slides 2–5: one tip per slide, max 15 words each. Slide 6: call to action to [ACTION].
Also suggest a simple colour and font style that fits my brand: [BRAND COLOURS].

PROMPT · SHORT VIDEO SCRIPT

Write a 20-second vertical video script about [TOPIC].
Format: 0–3s hook (on-screen text + what I say), 3–15s three quick points, 15–20s call to action.
Add simple shot directions I can film on my phone without special equipment.

TOOLS TO TRY

Design: Canva or Adobe Express templates (both include AI features). AI images: tools such as ChatGPT image generation, Microsoft Designer or Adobe Firefly. Video editing: CapCut or the editors built into Instagram and TikTok.

KEEP IT HONEST

Don’t use AI images to show products, results or people that aren’t real. Use AI visuals for backgrounds, illustrations and ideas, and real photos for anything a customer will buy.

STEP 6 · MINUTES 25–30

Edit, humanise & schedule

The final five minutes turn AI drafts into posts people trust. Read every post out loud once: if it doesn't sound like you talking, fix it.

PROMPT · MAKE IT SOUND LIKE ME

Here is an example of how I really write: [PASTE YOUR OWN POST OR MESSAGE].
Rewrite the 7 posts so they sound like me: same sentence length, same kind of words, same humour. Remove anything that sounds like marketing jargon or like it was written by AI.

5-minute editing checklist

- [ ] First line works on its own (it's all most people see)
- [ ] Facts, prices, dates and names are correct
- [ ] Every [CHECK] item has been checked
- [ ] One clear call to action per post
- [ ] Personal touch added: a name, a detail, a local reference
- [ ] Sounds natural when read aloud

Schedule it

1. Open your scheduler (e.g. Meta Business Suite, Buffer, Later, Hootsuite).
2. Create 7 posts, paste the final text and add photos.
3. Pick times your audience is online; your platform insights show this.
4. Schedule, then set a 10-minute daily slot to reply to comments.
5. Save the week's prompts and best posts in your "Content Bank".

REPLYING BEATS POSTING

Comments and messages are where followers become customers. Use AI to draft replies to tricky comments, but keep quick replies personal and in your own words.

WORKED EXAMPLE

A week for “Sunrise Bakery” (fictional example)

Here’s what the system can produce for an example small bakery. Your results will differ; use this to see the shape, not to copy.

Day	Pillar	Hook	Caption idea (shortened)	CTA
Mon	Teach	“Your bread goes stale for this reason.”	How to store sourdough so it stays fresh for 3 days: paper bag, not the fridge.	Save this post
Tue	Show	“4:30am. This is where it starts.”	Short video of the first batch going into the oven, with the baker explaining one step.	Follow for more
Wed	Prove	“She drove 40 minutes for this cake.”	A regular customer’s story and photo (shared with permission).	Tag a cake lover
Thu	Teach	“Myth: brown bread is always wholemeal.”	How to read the label in 10 seconds.	Comment “label”
Fri	Sell	“Weekend pre-orders close at 6pm.”	This weekend’s special and how to pre-order by message.	Message us to order
Sat	Show	“Meet the person behind the croissants.”	A 3-photo carousel introducing a team member.	Say hi below
Sun	Engage	“Croissant or pain au chocolat?”	A simple poll with a playful tone.	Vote in the poll

WHY IT WORKS

The week mixes helpful, personal and proof posts with one clear sales post. Each post has a single action, and the hooks are short enough to read in a second. That balance tends to build trust over time, so when you do sell, people are listening.

EXERCISE 3 · YOUR FIRST WEEK

Set a 30-minute timer now. Follow Steps 1–6 and schedule at least 5 posts before the timer ends. Write your actual time here: _____ minutes. Next week, aim to beat it.

YOUR ROUTINE

The weekly checklist & a 4-week plan

Tear this page out (or print it) and keep it next to your desk. Same day, same time, every week.

Every week (30 minutes)

- [ ] Paste Brand Brief into a new chat
- [ ] Set this week's focus (offer, event, season)
- [ ] Generate pillars + 7-day plan
- [ ] Draft all 7 posts with the master prompt
- [ ] Adapt for your 2 main platforms
- [ ] Plan photos / carousel / one short video
- [ ] Edit with the 5-minute checklist
- [ ] Schedule everything
- [ ] Save best posts to your Content Bank

Every day (10 minutes)

- [ ] Reply to comments and messages
- [ ] Note questions customers ask (future posts!)
- [ ] Take 1–2 real photos for next week

Every month (20 minutes)

- [ ] Check your platform insights for the top 3 posts
- [ ] Ask AI: "Why might these posts have done better?"
- [ ] Update your Brand Brief and pillars

Week	Focus	Try something new
1	Get the routine working	Schedule all 7 posts in one session
2	Improve hooks	Test 2 hook formulas from page 5
3	Add video	One 20-second short video
4	Review & repeat	Turn your best post into a carousel

WHAT'S NEXT

Your posts are sorted. Now let AI help with the replies.

More posts mean more comments, messages and emails. The next step is a simple system to answer them quickly, without losing the personal touch.

Automate Your Inbox and Customer Replies with AI
